

LECTOR

Proclaiming The Word of God to the assembly

Lectors are Scheduled usually once a Month
For a weekend Liturgy

Because the Word of God is an essential element of our Eucharistic worship, a lector needs to have an articulate, loud, and clear speaking voice, along with an understanding of the readings to be proclaimed, and be able to give a good interpretation of the meaning of the readings. They need to be comfortable with public speaking.

Before beginning his/her ministry, one completes a training session for new lectors. Periodically there are updating sessions for all Liturgical ministers. However, each lector should prepare him/herself by looking over the readings several times prior to their assigned Mass, so as to be familiar with the context of the readings.
